

Nicole Bruce

Bullseye Branding

With a passion for Business and Design, Nicole has naturally evolved into the role of Branding. With over 20 years of experience within the design world and a BIG imagination, Nicole thoroughly enjoys putting her talents & experience to work for her clients. As the owner of Bullseye Branding, her ultimate goal is not just to create compelling visuals through website development and branding design, but to also help educate her clients on how to gear their brand towards their particular target market in order to increase its effectiveness.