

Lian Morrison

Name:

Lian Morrison

Business name:

Tin Bird Productions Inc.

In 2012, Lian Morrison graduated from the Prague Film School in the Czech Republic with a Filmmaking Diploma. Having worked in the film industry on various TV shows, commercials, music videos and short films since graduation, Lian decided to try her hand at entrepreneurship.

Tin Bird Productions Inc. has been in operation since August 2014. They offer professional videography for businesses, organizations and individuals. They have completed wedding and promotional videos, commercials and live events, but Lian says that any event you would like captured on video, Tin Bird can do.

"It's a big step to take," Lian says on starting a business, "and it can be a bit scary at first, especially when you are really putting yourself and your work out there for everyone to see," but she acknowledges that opening Tin Bird has been one of her biggest successes, along with the recognition she receives from clients. "I love the reactions I get when they watch their videos, it really makes me love my job!"

Lian's parents and her sister have been very supportive of her decision to start a business. Lian often asks them for suggestions and honest feedback, as they help guide her through this new life venture. "I don't think I would be able to do it without them."

For others out there considering starting a business, Lian says don't get discouraged. "There will be ups and downs with running your business. Just remember to step back and look at the overall picture. Be honest with yourself and others."

You can check out Tin Bird Productions at www.tinbirdproductions.com. If you would like to get in touch with Lian, email her at info@tinbirdproductions.com.